

Mainlight joins up with Trumeter Technologies

2nd Jul 2014

Mainlight today announced that it is joining the Trumeter Technology Group. Mainlight (www.Mainlight.co.uk) is a lighting and electrical services company based in Stockport, specialising in total lighting and electrical solutions for commercial, industrial and retail premises. Trumeter Technologies (www.trumeter.com) is a designer, manufacturer and distributor of sophisticated control and measurement products, lighting solutions and custom electronic products. Trumeter is based in Bury, with operations also in USA and Malaysia. Steve Glover, founder, owner and Managing Director of Mainlight will be staying on as Managing Director until 2015. Steve commented "Joining Trumeter will secure the long term future of Mainlight and allow the company to grow the range of services and products it can offer to our customers".

Going on he added "In Trumeter we have found a partner who shares the same values as Mainlight, especially around providing excellent customer service, a flexible response, and high quality products and services". John Smith, Director of Trumeter Technologies, said "Trumeter is delighted to welcome Mainlight to the Lighting Solutions Division of the Group. There are great synergies between Mainlight's lighting and electrical expertise and Trumeter's LED technology and products – trulite™. I look forward to being able to offer all our customers additional products and services, as well as welcoming Mainlight's 26 employees to the Group". Advisors on the transaction were DTE Corporate Finance and Rowley Dickinson Solicitors for Mainlight, and for Trumeter, Jeremy Carr, Energize Capital, and Andrew Page, McHale & Co. Solicitors.
